A very valuable MERCHANT MILL,

A DISTILLERY and BREWERY, and sundry STONE QUARRIES to be let

I will rent my merchant Mill at the little Falls of Potowmac, for any term not less than seven, nor more than eleven years, from the first day of September next. The mill-house is 42 by 40 feet, three stories high, built with stone, and has in it three pairs of French Burr Stones, two overshot 18 feet water wheels, and Evans's machinery complete, with every other thing proper and necessary for carrying on the business with dispatch, and at as little expense as possible, all in good order.—From the mill to my landing on the Potomac river, (where craft, of any burthen may deliver grain and take in flour) it is about 40 yards, and from thence by water to George-Town and the City of Washington, about 3 miles, and to Alexandria about 11 miles. This situation, aided by a sufficient capital, will command the produce of a very extensive back country, where large quantities of wheat and other grain is annually made, the distance to it being from 8 to 10 miles less than to any market town upon the navigation of the Potowmac. There are on the premises a large stone Coopers' shop, a stone granary, and a commodious miller's house. At the landing aforesaid a bridge is now building over the Potomac, which is in great forwardness and probably will be finished the ensuing fall.

There are also on the premises, a Brewery and Distillery, built with stone, in them are three stills, two coppers or boilers, with every necessary article, all new, and in good order, and sufficiently large to carry on the Brewery and Distillery upon a very extensive plan. This property I will rent for the same term of years.

Upon my lands adjoining the premises, and along the banks of the river, where craft may load with ease and dispatch, is an immense quantity of building and foundation stones. Four quarries are now open, and as many more may be opened with ease: the stone taken from these quarries is better, and has the preference at this market, to any other stone brought to it. I will rent these quarries separately or together as may best suit.

On the top of the hill, and about 200 yards from the mill, is a stone Dwelling-house, large enough for the accommodation of a family: also, a kitchen, dairy, smoke-house, &c. and a garden, enclosed and in cultivation, the soil of which is equal in goodness to any in this state. I will also rent this property.

Adjoining to the Brewery and Distillery is a Smith's shop, in which is a complete set of Blacksmith's tools, which I will also rent, and if agreeable I will hire to the tenant two negro blacksmiths, one of them is a complete workman.

If I rent out the stone quarries, I will sell three crafts, which were built for the purpose of carrying stone: they will altogether bring upwards of 90 perch. Immediate possession will be given. For terms apply to the subscriber in this town.

The Mill, Brewery and Distillery, with their appurtenances, will be delivered to the tenant or tenants in good repair, and must be so returned, at the expiration of the lease or leases.

PHILIP RICHARD FENDALL.

LAW INTELLIGENCE.

COURT OF KING's BENCH, June 13.

LEWIS v. ALCOCK.

Mr. Garrow stated this to be an action brought for damages for a violent assault committed on the plaintiff by Mr. Alcock, upon the hustings, at the late election for the borough of Southwark, where he had acted as agent for Mr. Tierney, and, as he was then in Court, the Jury might perceive, from his superior bulk and strength, that he was a person over whom the plaintiff could have but little chance of success, if he had made any resistance.

The immediate consequence of this attack made by the friend of the popular candidate was, that the mob called out to have Mr. Lewis thrown down from the hustings among them. The jury ought, therefore, by the damages they should give, to discountenance any proceedings at an election that went to hold up any man as an object of vengeance to a mob.

Mr. Carpenter Smith and Mr. Broadley, two magistrates for the county of Surrey, who attended at the hustings as the friends of Mess. Thornton and Thellusson, said, that they saw the defendant collar the plaintiff, for the purpose of dragging him away from the hustings, insisting that, as he was not an elector, nor a clerk, he had no right to be there. Upon this the plaintiff was appointed a check clerk, that he might be qualified to remain where he was, and assist Mr. Thornton.

Mr. Thornton was then called; he said the plaintiff did attend the hustings at the desire of his assisting committee man.

Mr. Erskine made an able speech for the defendant; he thought the successful candidates ought to have been contented with gaining their election, and not have forwarded such a contemptible action as the present against the agent of Mr. Tierney. The plaintiff had no right to go to the Hustings, as not being a voter; by doing so, he became one of the mob; and the right to choose Representatives in this free country must be done away, if unqualified men, who thus intermeddled in elections were not excluded. He could not deny that an assault had been committed, according to law; but it was of such a nature, and attended with such circumstances, that he trusted not more than one shilling damages would be given.

After two or three words from Lord Kenyon, the jury retired, and remained deliberating for a considerable time: at length they gave a verdict for the plaintiff, damages ONE SHILLING.

June 17.

GOODCHILD v. PRESTON.

This action was brought by the plaintiff, who lives at Walton-upon-Thames, to recover the sum of 200l.

Mr. Garrow, who opened this case, observed, he had been informed the defendant was a merchant of the city of London, though he could hardly believe it. The circumstances of the case were singular, and such as, for the honor of the city of London, were very seldom heard of in Guildhall.

In consequence of some previous acquaintance the plaintiff one day called upon the defendant and found him very much out of spirits. He enquired the cause of it. Mr. Preston told him he had been disappointed. The commissioners of the excise had refused to pay him for some rum, and unless he could raise 200l. in the course of that day, he was afraid he should be ruined. Upon that, the plaintiff took a piece of paper and immediately gave him a draft upon his bankers for the sum of 200l. This money was to be returned in the space of six weeks. The defendant was so struck with that act of generosity, that he insisted he might be permitted to give Mr. Goodchild some security for the re-payment of it. The plaintiff told him he wanted no security, and if he did not think him a man of honour, on whose word he could safely rely, he would not trust him on his bond. When the six weeks had elapsed, the plaintiff called on the defendant for his money. Mr. Preston told him it was inconvenient at that time to pay it; but promised over and over again to pay it. At last, however, to the utter astonishment of the plaintiff, Mr. Preston had the boldness to tell him he had never lent him any money; that he had never been his creditor for a farthing, and that he would not pay him.

The learned counsel observed, if before this cause was brought, the defendant had any character that was of value to him, he would soon see whether he had made a good bargain in this case, by endeavouring to shift off the payment of this money.

The draft was paid by the plaintiff's bankers.—He said, he should lay such a body of evidence before the jury, that if it were a question, whether Mr. Preston had stole that draft which he had received from the plaintiff, and were to be subjected to a capital punishment for the stealing of it, he could have no possible defence. He should prove that draft was paid to the defendant by the plaintiff's bankers on the day on which it was dated—He should shew by what bank note they had paid it. He should shew that that bank note, on the same day, was carried to Mr. Preston's banker; and he should also prove that it came into his banker's hands through his (Mr. Preston's) hands that day. If necessary, he could identify that bank-note still farther.

This was as gross an instance of ingratitude as ever appeared in a Court of Justice. There was also a bill in Chancery on this business, but the defendant swore through it.

One of the clerks of Messrs. Langston and Co. said Mr. Goodchild kept money at their house; and that on the 30th of October, 1794, they paid the plaintiff's draft with the bank-note 704, and dated October 20th, 1794. The draft was here read, and was in these words: "London, October 30th, 1794, pay Mr. Thomas Preston or bearer two hundred pounds."

One of the clerks of Messrs. Prescot and Co. said Mr. Preston kept money at their house; that in the afternoon of October 30, 1794, they received through the hands of the defendant, the bank-note No. 704. The learned counsel was proceeding still farther in his proof, when the noble and learned judge asked what answer was to be given to this case?

Mr. Mingay, counsel for the defendant, said he had no witness.

Lord Kenyon said, there was then an end of it. To be sure such a case was never brought into a court of justice.—Verdict for plaintiff, including two years interest, 216l.

From an English Paper.

The Hereditary Prince of Wirtenberg has the advantage of being personally known to the Royal Family, from his having past an whole winter in London, when he was a constant visitor at St. James's. He was married to the King's eldest niece, the Princess of Wales's sister, but she is since dead.

The Marchioness of Buckingham has been indefatigable in her active protection of the poor Emigrants.—She has now begun a Subscription for the Priests, and has ascertained the melancholy fact, that, since Government stopped its payments to these miserable men, eighty-seven of them have literally perished for want!

Faro.—The fashionable host of Faro are at this moment under a legal blockade: and information has been laid against Mrs. S—t's, as a disorderly house, for suffering card playing therein, contrary to the statute; and bail has been entered into for an appearance in the Courts of Westminster, to answer the charge of this misdemeanor. A similar information is lodged against the Countess of B——'s; Lady A. and Mrs. C—n—n are pricked down as next in succession, to answer for the pious orgies with which they have so long closed their Sunday evenings!

EDWARD GIBBON, ESQ.

THIS great historian, descended from an ancient family in the wilds of Kent, was born at Putney in Surry, on the 8th of May, 1737. His infancy was marked by great corporeal weakness and infirmity; but an attachment to arithmetick, at a very early period, which rendered him capable of multiplying and dividing two sums of several figures by memory alone, seems to have denoted a vigorous mind. His education was partly received at home, partly at Bath, and other places, where he resided for the restoration of his health, and partly at Westminster. In April 1752, he went to Oxford, where he remained but a short time, in consequence of his having embraced the Roman Catholic religion. He was now sent to Lausanne, in Switzerland, where, under the tuition of Mr. Pavilliard, a Calvinist minister, he was not only made a good classical scholar, but restored to the Protestant faith. To this banishment, Mr. Gibbon acknowledges that he owed whatever has been the fruits of his education. He returned to his father, who was now retired to his seat at Buriton, Hants, in 1758; and was received with every mark of parental affection. After residing at home about five years, during which time he became a captain of the Hampshire militia, his father being major, he again visited the continent, and made the tour of France and Italy. It was while he sat contemplating amidst the ruins of the capital of Rome, on the evening of the 15th of October, 1764, that that the idea of writing the Decline and Fall of that city, first started to his mind. More mature deliberation extended it to the Fall of the Roman Empire, which he has so nobly completed in his six volumes, the three last of which were published on the 51st anniversary of his birth-day, May, 1788. The greater part of this work was completed during a retirement of some years in Switzerland, after the abolition of the Board of Trade, of which Mr. Gibbon, then in Parliament, had been appointed one of the Lords Commissioners, by the recommendation of Lord Chancellor Loughborough.

In 1793, he came over to condole with his illustrious and learned friend, Lord Sheffield, on the death of that nobleman's excellent lady; and he died the 13th of January, 1794, at his lodgings in St. James's Street.

His remains were deposited in Lord Sheffield's family burial-place, in Sussex; and his lordship has honoured Mr. Gibbon's memory, by becoming the editor of his Miscellaneous Works, including the Memoirs of his own Life. Notwithstanding the exalted abilities of our chief historians, "those who have enjoyed the society of Mr. Gibbon," says Lord Sheffield, "will agree with me, that his conversation was still more captivating than his writings."

PARIS, June 20.

Yesterday between the hours of one and two, a man was arrested in the Palace of Equality, of the name of Jourden, who had distinguished himself as one of the most zealous of the terrorists. He was formerly drum major to the revolutionary army, and is said to be related to the celebrated Jourdan Coupe-Tete. The people were highly pleased at the event. But we are nevertheless assured, that the police have released him provisionally, on condition that he shall not make his appearance again at the Palais d'Egalite.

The report of Peace had raised the mandats, the day before yesterday, to 9 1-2 per cent. but they have since fallen to their ordinary rate, that is eight per cent.

If letters from Agde may be credited, 4 terrorists who had made themselves notorious in that county, have assassinated the Spanish Consul, on his return from his country house. The assassins have fled.

General Hoche has informed the Directory, that within a month, the department of L'Orne will be as tranquil as any of those departments which have already submitted.

It is with pleasure we have seen Cambaceres again ascend the tribune within these few days. He was grossly calumniated by a herd of ambitious intriguers, after the 13th Vendemaire, who wished to exclude him from the Directory, whither he was called by the public voice. The interval which has passed since that period, has not, however been lost to the public: it has been devoted to the preparation of a civil code, a work of great extent and considerable importance, which is now in the Press, and which will be the means of destroying that motley legislation, which resulted from the caprice of the various factions which alternately convulsed the convention, and incessantly harrassed the country in the name of the legislative body. The party of wise and enlightened deputies is thus about to be strengthened by the talents and influence of a virtuous man, who, tho' long in possession of great power, never did an injury to any one, nor violated the laws of reason and probity.

Poultier in the Ami des Loix, endeavors to turn into ridicule the precautions taken by the Directory and by Cochon, for frustrating the ever active manœuvres of the friends of Babœuf.

WINCHESTER, (Virg.) Sept. 2.

It is with a degree of sorrow seldom experienced by the editor hereof, that he enters upon the recital of the following melancholy event.—A few days ago an unhappy dispute took place at Bath, between a Captain Randolph and another gentleman, whose name we have not heard; that a challenge was sent by the latter to the former, of which a Captain Thomas was the bearer; that Captain R. refused the challenge, and threw the note on the ground, signifying at the same time, that he did not think his opponent upon an equality with him. The behaviour of Captain R. irritated Captain Thomas, who also dared him to combat, which was refused by the former on the same score. A day or two afterwards, Captain Thomas was boasting in company that he had frightened some of the Continentals.—This behaviour drew down the vengeance of Major Blackburn, who very unfortunately happened to be present: his resentment knew no bounds.—He assailed Captain Thomas, and (Oh! that we could break off here! but, alas! the sequel, mournful as it is, must be disclosed) with a dirk, put a period to his existence! The unhappy Major Blackburn is committed to prison at Martinsburgh.

A few days ago, Mr. Jesse Thornton, hatter, of of Richmond, put an end to his existence, by stabbing himself with a knife.

On Saturday laft arrived at Alexandria the Pomona, Captain Heywood, in 36 days from Cadiz, who was brought to on Thurfday morning the 1ft inft. by the fquadron commanded by Admiral Murray; who after caufing his papers to be infpected, difmiffed him, informing him, that he had taken one of Barney's veffels after a long chace, which began on Monday morning, and had then only juft finifhed.

Captain Heywood left Cadiz July 27th, at which time that place was in immediate expectation of a rupture with Great Britain.

A Boffon paper contains the following article:

"Accounts from Cayenne inform, that the famous COLLOT D'HERBOIS and BILLAUD VARENNES have died fuddenly in that Colony.

A gentleman who ferved two years in the French army, from 1793 to '95 fays, that the foldiers have always fared better than the citizens—that there is no regular iffuing of rations, clothing or other fupplies to the army. The foldiers receive from the magazines eftabliffed whereever a body of troops is ftationed, every article they want and apply for, fo long as there is any thing to iffue. They draw cloathing, bread, meat, brandy, &c. as they want them, in fuch quantities as they pleafe—and being fully fed and fupplied, they are contented and happy without receiving one fous in cafh for months together. BY THIS DAY's MAIL.

KNOXVILLE, Auguſt 15.

On Tueſday laſt the General Aſſembly of this State adjourned ſine die.

The following acts were paſſed during their ſitting:

An act directing the mode of electing one repreſentative to repreſent this ſtate in the Congreſs of the United States.

An act providing for the election of electors to elect a Preſident and Vice Preſident of the United States.

An act empowering the juſtices of each court, of the ſeveral counties in this ſtate, to lay, and have collected, an additional county tax for the year 1797.

An act directing the mode of electing the ſeveral officers, whoſe appointment are by the conſtitution veſted in the court of pleas and quarter ſeſſions.

An act making compenſation to the members, clerks, and door keepers of the General Aſſembly, and for other purpoſes.

Communication of his Excellency the Governor to the Hon. the General Aſſembly of this ſtate.

Gentlemen of the Senate and of the Houſe of Repreſentatives,

The ſhort time in which I conceived it was neceſſarily my duty to convene the legiſlature, compelled me to call you together on ſo ſhort a notice. In the firſt inſtance, it was neceſſary to give all the time, the emergency of the occaſion would admit of: And in the ſecond, from a circumſtance, that the election to be held for repreſentatives was approaching ſo near at hand, made it neceſſary, as I conceive, for the aſſembly to have it in their power, by a timely meeting (ſhould they in their wiſdom deem it proper) to make an alteration in the act directing the mode of electing repreſentatives to repreſent this ſtate in the Congreſs of the United States, before the day of election ſhould arrive, as directed in the aforeſaid act, otherwiſe it might be attended with diſputes and contentions of a diſagreeable nature; for by a late act of Congreſs the intended number of our repreſentatives is diminiſhed, of courſe it proportionally leſſens our number of electors for Preſident and Vice-Preſident of the United States. Thus ſuch a derangement will neceſſarily require an alteration in our acts paſſed for ſuch purpoſes.

Our ſenators not being recogniſed in the Senate of the United States, is another matter for your conſideration and attention: And for your more ample information, the ſeveral acts and communications accompanying this addreſs, will elucidate unto you the propriety of my calling the aſſembly together at this time.

I hope I may be permitted to obſerve, that it is of importance, and conducive to public happineſs to arrange our acts conformably with thoſe of Congreſs, ſo far as they ſhall reſpect this ſtate.

The foregoing are the reaſons why I have thought proper to convene the aſſembly in ſeſſion, on the preſent day: And I make no doubt, you will, through your paternal care, wiſdom, and patriotic deliberations, adopt ſuch meaſures as will tend to promote the public intereſt and general utility of the ſtate.

I have the pleaſure of announcing to you, gentlemen, the admiſſion of the ſtate of Tenneſſee into the federal union, a circumſtance, pregnant with every flattering proſpect of peace, happineſs and opulence to our infant ſtate. The period is at length arrived, when the people of the South Weſtern Territory may enjoy all the bleſſings and liberties of a free and independent republic.

Permit me to wiſh your public, domeſtic, and individual happineſs,

While I have the honor to be,
Very reſpectfully,
Your devoted and
Obedient ſervant,
JOHN SEVIER.

The committee to whom was referred the communication from the governor, reported, that the following addreſs be preſented to his excellency.

To his Excellency JOHN SEVIER, Eſq. Governor, &c. of the ſtate of Tenneſſee.

SIR,

We are fully ſenſible that the important objects by you laid before this General Aſſembly, made it neceſſary for you to convene the legiſlature at this time.

We rejoice with you in the event of this ſtate being firmly admitted into the federal union; and our minds are filled with the moſt pleaſing ſenſations, when we reflect on the proſperity and political happineſs to which we view it as a certain prelude: Be aſſured, ſir, it will be our firſt and greateſt care to adopt ſuch meaſures as will promote the true intereſt of this ſtate, as connected with the American union.

With reſpect to our repreſentation in the ſenate of the United States in particular, we flatter ourſelves ſuch ſteps have been taken, that no reaſon now remains ſufficient to juſtify that body in refuſing any longer to recogniſe our ſenators.

We view it as eſſencially neceſſary to the preſervation of peace and harmony, with the Indian tribes, that the conſtitutional treaties and laws ſhould be duly obſerved: And we have the fulleſt confidence that the executive of this ſtate will take proper meaſures to enforce their due execution.

JOSEPH M'MIN, Ch.

ALBANY, September 5.

The French Miniſter, his Excellency Citizen ADET, arrived in this city, ſince our laſt—he has proceeded on his journey to Lake George. During his ſtay here, he was waited on by the Lieut. Governor, the Chief Juſtice and many other of our moſt reſpectable citizens.

NEW-YORK, September 8.

The ſhip Confederacy, of New-York, Capt. Scott Jenckes, was at the Iſle of Bourbon the 24th of April laſt, bound to China.

By the Cygnet, from Hamburgh, we have been favored with Hamburgh papers to July 11, inclu ſive, which we ſhall endeavor to have tranſlated as expeditiouſly as poſſible.

A gentleman who came paſſenger in the Cygnet from Hamburgh has obligingly informed us, that the laſt intelligence received was, that the French had paſſed the Rhine, taken Kehl, with 500 priſoners, and had penetrated conſiderably into Suabia; that the Auſtrians had been obliged to leave part of the Rhine with precipitation, leaving much baggage, &c. That the French army was rapidly anvancing to Franckfort, From the recent ſucceſſes of the French, it was the general and daily expectation of the citizens of Hamburgh, that a peace would ſoon take place between the Emperor and the French Republic.

LATEST INTELLIGENCE.

By the Peggy, Capt. Bunce, in 40 days from Hull, we have London accounts to the evening of the 13th July; being three days later than the advices by Capt. Clay, lately arrived at Philadelphia from Hamburgh. The moſt important articles are the defeat of the Auſtrians by General Moreau, ſince his croſſing the Rhine; and the continued apprehenſions of a rupture between Great-Britain and Spain.

LONDON, July 13—14.

This morning the mail arrived from Hamburgh, which was due laſt Sunday. The accounts confirm the ſtatements given in the laſt Paris papers, reſpecting the croſſing of the Rhine at Straſbourg and Kehl, and give other particulars reſpecting the operations of the Auſtrians, and the alarm that has been ſpread in all the countries along the Rhine by the progreſs of the French.

The Auſtrians having been obliged to abandon Fribourg, in Briſgau, ſeem to have no choice left but to retreat (for fighting ſeems now to be out of the queſtion) into the Black Foreſt, by what is called the Devil's Vale. The army commanded by the Prince of Conde muſt purſue the ſame meaſures.

The Arch-duke, with part of his army, left the Lahn, intending, it would appear, to prevent the French from getting over at Straſbourg, but, the Republicans having been too quick in their operations to be prevented by the arrival of Auſtrian reinforcements from ſuch a diſtance, this movement on the part of the Arch-duke will be one means of enabling them to re-eſtabliſh themſelves.

The French, by the late movements, have rendered all their poſitions much more ſecure than they were a ſhort time ago, and it will require great military ſkill on the part of the Imperialiſts to prevent them from profiting by the circumſtance; for not only has the army of the Sambre and Meuſe received great reinforcements from that of the North, as we have already ſtated, but a junction has been formed by the right wing of Jourdan's army, and the left of General Moreau's.

It is probable that the purpoſe of the French is to penetrate through Suabia on one ſide, and thro' the Valteline, the country of the Griſons and Tirol on the other. If they ſucceed in this, the army of Italy, which has already advanced ſo far on that ſide as to have its advanced poſts on the ſouthern mountains of Germany, will be enabled to effect a junction with that of the Rhine. The French armies, when thus united, will extend to the German ocean on the left, and to the Mediterranean on the right. It is not eaſy to ſee at preſent any thing that can prevent them from executing this vaſt project, which will open to them the heart of Germany, and compel the Emperor to ſue for peace on any terms.

An article from Bonn of June 24, ſtates, that the news is confirmed, of the French having taken the lines before Mentz. This intelligence, however, merits further confirmation, before it can be implicitly credited.

Private letters from the Imperial army ſtate, that the Prince of Wirtemberg has been ſummoned to Vienna to give an account of the "ball at which General Lefebvre made him pay the piper."

From Italy, the mail brings little intelligence of importance, it confirms the news of an armiſtice having been concluded between the French Republic and the King of Naples.

Some malcontents at Rome have planted the tree of Liberty there. The ringleaders have been apprehended.

Eighteen waggons, laden with gold and ſilver plate, which the French had taken in Lombardy, arrived in Genoa, where they were depoſited with the Banker Balbi, treaſurer to the French.

CAPTURE OF COLUMBO, WITH IMMENSE TREASURES.

Letters from Madras, dated the 22d February, received over land at the India Houſe, confirm the intelligence we gave a few days ago of the capture of Columbo, which, with all other dependencies belonging to the Dutch on the iſland of Ceylon, ſurrendered, on the 15th of February, to his Majeſty's forces, under the command of Gen. Stnart. The property found there is immenſe—that of individuals is ſecured to them; but three Dutch Eaſt-Indiamen, richly laden, and all other public property, will be ſhared by the captors.

VICTORY OF THE FRENCH ON THE RHINE.

In the ſitting of the Council of Five Hundred, July 6, the following meſſage was delivered:

The Executive Directory to the Council of Five Hundred.

"Citizens Legiſlators,

"Victory is as faithful to the armies of the republic in Germany, as ſhe has been in Italy. We have to announce to you a battle gained at Renchen.

"The army of the Rhine and Moſelle, after its brilliant paſſage of the Rhine, had ſucceſsfully engaged in ſeveral combats, which were the prelude to the moſt important operations. A general battle took place on the 10th at Renchen. The republican troops alternately employed, in imitation of the ſkillful chiefs who commanded them, that national boldneſs which overthrows every thing that oppoſes its impetuoſity; and that unſhaken courage which reſiſts every effort. The enemy left in the power of the French ten pieces of cannon, twelve hundred priſoners, ſix hundred horſes, and a field of battle covered with dead bodies. Their loſs is enormous. Such is the expreſſion of Moreau, the commander in chief.

"The army of the Sambre and Meuſe did not remain a paſſive ſpectator of the victorious march of the Rhine and Moſelle. The diviſion which had fallen back behind the Rhine, forcibly repaſſed that river at Cologne, between Coblentz and Andernach. A corps of the enemy which defended the right bank, was compelled to fly with precipitation."

The aſſembly immediately decreed—

The Council of Five Hundred, conſidering that every victory obtained by our brave armies, gives the republic an opening to the concluſion of an honourable and ſolid peace; and to all the people of Europe, a pledge of the ſpeedy ceſſation of the deſtructive ſcourge of war, Declares, that the armies of the Rhine and Moſelle, and of the Sambre and Meuſe, continue to deſerve well of their country; and that the preſent reſolution ſhall be printed, and carried by a ſtate-meſſenger to the Council of Elders.

HULL, July 15.

BY EXPRESS

London, Wedneſday evening, half paſt 8, July 13.

This morning government received diſpatches from Gibraltar, ſaid to be of the moſt ſerious importance. They were diſpatched by the Governor in a faſt ſailing tranſport, with orders to the Captain to make the firſt Engliſh port, and ſet off expreſs to the War-Office.

The intelligence brought by the Captain of the tranſport from Gibraltar, which arrived at the War-Office this morning, is ſaid to be, that of conſiderable preparations going on at the camp of St. Roch, evidently intended to act offenſively againſt that fortreſs; as alſo, a large body of forces having arrived at the lines, which for this month paſt have been cantoned in the village ten or twelve miles diſtant from the camp. But from the ſecret manner in which thoſe in official ſituations, in the office, have acted, ſince the receipt of the above diſpatches, nothing further has tranſpired; though it is evident, from manner and conduct, they are of the moſt momentous nature.

Our correſpondent's letter alſo confirms the account given in the preceding part, of the entire defeat of the Auſtrians, with immenſe loſs.

50,000 Tickets, at Eight Dollars, 400,000

N. B. To favour those who may take a quantity of Tickets, the prize of 40,000 dollars will be the LAST drawn ticket, and the 30,000 the LAST but ONE:

And approved notes, securing payment in either money or prizes, in ten days after drawing, will be received for any number not less than 30 tickets.

This Lottery will afford an elegant specimen of the private buildings to be erected in the City of Washington—Two beautiful designs are already selected for the entire fronts on two of the public squares; from these prawings it is proposed to erect two centre and four corner buildings, as soon as possible after this lottery is sold, and to convey them, when complete, to the fortunate adventurers, in the manner described in the scheme for the Hotel Lottery. A nett deduction of five per cent. will be made to defray the necessary expenses of printing, &c. and the surplus will be made a part of the fund intended for the National University, to be erected within the city of Washington.

The Drawing will commence as soon as the tickets are sold off.—The money prizes will be payable in thirty days after it is finished; and any prizes for which fortunate numbers are not produced within twelve months after the drawing is closed, are to be considered as given towards the fund for the University; it being determined to settle the whole business in a year from the ending of the drawing, and to take up the bonds given as security.

The real securities given for the payment of the Prizes, are held by the President and two Directors of the Bank of Columbia, and are valued at more than half the amount of the lottery.

The twenty four gentlemen who by appointment of the late Commissioners assisted in the management of the Hotel Lottery are requested to undertake this arduous task a second time on behalf of the public; a sufficient number of these having kindly accepted, it is hoped that the friends to a National University and the other federal objects may continue to favor the design.

By accounts received from the different parts of the Continent as well as from Europe, where the tickets have been sent for sale, the public are assured that the drawing will speedily commence, and that the care and caution unavoidably necessary to insure a safe disposal of the tickets, has rendered the short suspension indispensable.

SAMUEL BLODGET.

☞ Tickets may be had at the Bank of Columbia; of James West & Co. Baltimore; of Peter Gilman, Boston of John Hopkins, Richmond; and of Richard Wells Cooper's Ferry. co
